The Albany Investigation.

TILLINGPOST TESTIFIES.

Albany, June 23.—James Tillingpost the assistant president of the Central Hudson River Railway since April 1st and for eleven years with the road testified that he did not raise money on his own credit on May 24th and 25th. Graves of Albany cashed a twenty thousand dollar draft on May 25th for witness, which witness took to Buffalo and put in a private safe and then deposited it in the bank. He did not talk with any member of the Legislature the night he received the money. He first met Barber accidentally in the hall of the Delavan House a few weeks ago and went to Richardson's room with him to ask that he be kept informed daily as to the Senatorial vote. Never met Dewey in Barber's room and don't know Charles Edwards or Edward Phelps. The currency was a matter of my own and was used in Buffalo in my own private affairs. Buffalo banks are some times short of currency. I intended to use the money in real estate transfers but was absent at the proper time and did not use it. I knew a man named Churchyard but never paid him a dollar.

DAVENPORT ON THE STAND.

John I. Davenport resumed the stand and said: "I met Senator Stratton at 9 o'clock next morning, as agreed, and he told me that he could not accept. Then he telegraphed Heren that Stratton could not accept, but fearing the dispatch would not reach I telegraphed him again, saying that Senator Stratton could not accept. I received a dispatch from Knox saying that under the circumstances he would allow his name to be used. That was all I had to do with the matter."

Question—"You had a conversation with Stratton about his appointment as marshal?"
Answer—"It was not. It was my own opinion that Stratton could have the office if he would take it."

Q—"Are you at liberty to state the conversation you had with the President about the U. S. Senatorial contest here?"
A—"I am."

Q—"What was said?"
Answer—"He simply asked me whether I knew anything about whether Conkling or Platt were to be candidates."

Q—"Did he express a strong desire that they should be re-elected?"
A—"He didn't. He has expressed no wish or desire upon the senatorial question. I had no authority from the President to offer the U. S. Marshalship to Stratton. I acted in the matter simply at the request of Knox. I believed that Stratton's name would be confirmed if Knox recommended him."

Q—"Did he ask, 'who is Stratton' when you mentioned his name?"
A—"Yes, I think so. I meant John H. Stratton of New York. I had no further conversation with him."

I knew Roscoe Conkling didn't think the New York Central was in any wise interested in the Senatorial contest.

As an official of the Southern Central road Charles I. Ingessoll, of Westfield, testified that he had been here four weeks in the interest of Dewey and the administration. I knew Sessions four or five years, Bradley only since January. I supposed Bradley would vote for Dewey. Never paid him any money; nobody paid him. Bradley told me that his constituents strongly opposed Conkling and he was through voting for them and would vote hereafter for Dewey. I told this to Sessions.

John I. Davenport testified: I have read Senator Stratton's document reflecting on myself and President Garfield. I received permission from the President to state what took place between Mr. Knox and Postmaster-General James also granted permission for me to state a talk with them. I went to Washington in May on legal business. At breakfast at the Willard House the names of Hugh Gorner and Col. Erhardt were mentioned in connection with the marshalship. After breakfast I went to the White House with the Postmaster-General and the President asked who would be a good man for the marshalship of New York. I said I couldn't tell. He asked about Knox. I said it would be an excellent appointment. He asked me to see Knox at the Arlington. I saw him and he insisted that he would not give up his profession for the position. Then Garfield and Erhardt's names were again mentioned and I suggested Stratton. I went back to the White House and suggested his name to the President, but he did not know Stratton. After talking a while I sent that telegram to Stratton and met him at the club and I asked him if I could use his name for marshal. Stratton said, do you know whether Conkling or Platt are to be candidates? I said no. He said, where are you in this fight, and I said with the President. He didn't know whether either would be a candidate, but did not want to be embarrassed, could the offer be held open until after the senatorial fight. I said I must have an immediate answer. Of course he would be expected to oppose Conkling and Platt. He wanted to consult with Judge Gardner and answer in the morning, which he did, and his answer was that he could not accept. Knox telegraphed me that night to suggest somebody else if Stratton would not accept.

In my interview with the President, and I knew Knox did not want office, and I knew that many of President Garfield's nominations were confirmed, and I thought Senator Stratton's would be. Wickham's men from Erie county testified that they had a conversation with Bradley on the 8th of June before he made his charge in the House. He spoke about his voting. I spoke to him about C. H. Russell's change of vote and told him it would be good for him and his constituents, if he would make a similar statement. He said he was going to quit voting for Conkling and Platt and vote for Cornell and Rogers. I am sure he did not say he would vote for Dewey. I have heard a great deal of talk about members selling votes prior to this investigation. It has been seriously said that votes of members could be bought with money, but I cannot say who said it. I really thought Bradley would vote for Cornell and Rogers, and so told it. The counsel of both sides here announced that they had no further evidence to offer. E. A. Carpenter said there were discrepancies in the testimony of Davenport and Stratton which it would be well to have explained if possible.

Davenport never mentioned Knox's name but once. He stated that Knox's name would be put in place of Judge Choate's. He never mentioned to me that he had had a conversation with Knox in Washington. It also suggested that I should hold the matter under advisement until morning, and if I could not take the office he wanted I should see Gardner and ask him to take it. He did not ask me at any time to keep the matter confidential; I did, however, keep the matter private. I assumed that he had authority to offer me office. I had not in my mind the present cabinet or any one else.

Particular—Witness then denied the conversation as given by him on the first examination. Chairman Scott announced that the committee desires to hear the counsel sum up. Bangs said he did not care about summing up unless the other side wanted to. Smith said he did not think much light could be thrown on the case by summing up. He did not believe what he could say would change the opinion of a single member of the committee. It was agreed not to sum up. The committee then went into executive session and soon afterwards adjourned.

Mining Suit.

Denver, June 23.—A suit that is of very great importance to the mining interests of the State, was argued today before Supreme Judge Miles in the United States Court. The suit was that of the "Star Hope" against the "Smuggler," and the question involved has reference to the location of the discovery shaft in a mining claim. The Smuggler is a Leadville mine. The prospector sunk a shaft and drifted, striking a vein at a distance of several hundred feet from the discovery shaft. He located his claim, taking the point where the vein was struck as the centre instead of locating from the discovery shaft. This location placed the discovery shaft in a corner of the claim. Other parties located the "Star Hope" and surveyed in the Smuggler ore. The question is now whether the Smuggler location was a legal one, the point raised being that the discovery shaft of the Smuggler is not in the center of the claim. The suit is held for decision.

Disastrous Fire at Tombstone.

San Francisco, June 23.—Tombstone dispatches say that a fire swept over a space of six blocks in that place today destroying about one hundred and fifty buildings including a large part of the business portion of the town. The losses will probably aggregate $250,000. About eight hundred people are homeless. The buildings were mostly of a cheap temporary character. The fire originated in a saloon from opening a barrel of whiskey the fumes of which communicated with a cigar lighter. Water being scarce and having no fire engines but little could be done to check the flames except to tear down buildings. No serious accidents occurred.

San Francisco, June 23.—Inquiry among insurance companies and agencies show that the loss to them by the Tombstone fire will aggregate not far from $100,000, possibly rather over than under that figure.

North Carolina Politics.

New York, June 23.—A Tribune's Washington special says: The condition of the Republican party in North Carolina is scarcely less complicated than that of the party in Virginia. The temperance movement organized primarily in the legislature of the State by Democrats at the instance of ex-Senator Merriman, has already had the effect to split the Republican State commissions into two factions, and is likely to divide the party in the State unless the administration interferes.

Ute Commission.

Los Pinos Agency, June 18, via Lake City, Col. June 23.—The Ute commission outfit accompanied by the cavalry have crossed the Grand River and gone towards the Minto reservation in Utah.

College Donation.

Akron, Ohio, June 23.—J. R. Buchell yesterday gave Buchell college $75,000. This makes $200,000 that he has given this institution.

The Star Route.

Washington, June 23.—General Brady to-day, through his counsel Shellenbarger and Wilson applied for an investigation by the grand jury, the star route charges. He says the press had bitterly assaulted him, the Government agents had been procuring false evidence against him and he objects to the case being postponed till fall, claiming the privilege of a speedy trial. Col. Cook, special star route counsel, said the evidence was not quite ready for the grand jury. Not a single case is quite completed and it would result in a failure to begin trial now, and that the Government did not intend to prosecute but to clear itself of the responsibility if they were wrong. The charges extend from Texas to Oregon, and all over the western border and it might be necessary to call witnesses from far distant sections.

General Brady wrote a letter, presented by his counsel, accusing the government of filling the press with false reports. Knowing their being government agents shielded them from proceedings for libel. Col. Cook, in reply, referred to certain Washington newspapers as reputed organs of the star route ring, and of the purchase of such papers by the ring. Brady wanted the privilege to examine the records of the Postoffice Department. Cook replied that Brady need not pretend ignorance of those records after controlling them three years. When the matter was before Congress he showed entire familiarity with it. He could not have them to make his defense.

Balloting at Albany.

Albany, N. Y., June 23.—In the joint convention to-day the ballot for Senator in place of Conkling the combined vote stood: Wheeler 50; Potter 55; Conkling 32; Cornell 1; Lapham 17; Folger 1; Geo. H. Haskins 1. No choice.

SECOND VOTE.

Dewey 53; Kernan 52; Platt 27; Cornell 8; Wheeler 1; Cowley 8; Lapham 4; Tremaine 1. No choice.

THIRD VOTE.

Wheeler 50; Potter 52; Conkling 32; Lapham 17; Hastings 2; Folger 1. No choice.

FOURTH VOTE.

Dewey 52; Kernan 53; Platt 27; Cornell 7; Cowley 6; Lapham 3. Adjourned.

The Striking Brewers.

New York, June 23.—The Cooper Institute meeting was crowded last night with workmen sympathizing with the strike of the brewerymen. Sixty trades unions were represented; Victor Lorry, chairman, stated that employing brewers had made a pool amounting to $80,000 and $90,000 to influence malt dealers in the west to boycott brewers who send beer to New York. Resolutions were adopted by the meeting declaring that inasmuch as the boss brewers have proved regardless to all considerations and unapproachable by every argument that Boycotting is the duty of every honorable citizen as the only means left to force them to respect the rights of workmen.

Vanderbilt's Team.

New York, June 23.—W. H. Vanderbilt yesterday drove his road team, Small Hopes and Lysander, top wagon, a mile, at the gentlemen's driving track, Electrowood, in 1:24, of which the first half mile was trotted in 1:05. Mr. Vanderbilt confidently expects to beat his own record of 3:23, which he made some years ago with Lady Mac and Small Hopes with the above team within the next month as they are improving daily.

Vanderbilt drove his double team, "Small Hopes" and "Lysander," one mile in 2:04, the fastest time on record, on the Electrowood track.

A New Comet.

Rochester, June 23.—Professor Swift has received dispatches indicating that another great comet had been discovered by L. L. Edwards, Pennsylvania and Edgar L. Larkin, Windsor, Illinois. It is very large.

San Francisco, June 23.—The comet reported as having been discovered in two places in the eastern States last night was seen here early this morning by Prof. Hanks. It was seen at Bodie, California at 4:30 a. m. where the nucleus was well defined and a brilliant tail observed. At Tombstone, Arizona, at 4 a. m. the comet was apparently half size and very brilliant. All dispatches state that the comet was heading northeast.

Quinn's Message Refused.

New York, June 23.—Thursday's Irish World announces that messages from Mr. Quinn, secretary of the Land League, are no longer permitted to come over the cable. In proof of which it publishes the following:

Dublin, June 16.—My messages for this week's Irish World are refused at the office of the Direct United States Cable Company. The previous order to accept has been cancelled.

The editor says he will be baffled in this way and if the Direct Cable Company will not send messages he will see what can be done with the French Atlantic Cable.

Stabbed to Death.

Virginia City, June 23.—Daniel Kellher, deputy county clerk, was stabbed and killed on the street by Dennis Hennessy, a curbstone broker. The cause is not fully understood but is believed to have been political matters.

Silver Strike.

Quebec, June 23.—A rich galena mine is reported on the southwest shore of the bay, St. Paul. The lode is four feet six inches wide. One test gave 456 ounces of silver per ton, which is worth one dollar an ounce.

Suicide.

East Saginaw, Mich., June 23.—In a fit of delirium tremens this morning, M. O'Donnell, a laboring man, committed suicide with a razor, cutting open the abdomen. He only lived a short time.

Fire at Gunnison.

Gunnison, Col., June 23.—An extensive and what threatened for a time to be a disastrous fire occurred here last night. The fire originated in the restaurant known as the Delmonico of the Gunnison, owned by Henry Hall and spread rapidly to adjoining buildings. There was no wind and by the willing efforts of the people the fire was extinguished. Had there been any wind the whole town would have been destroyed.

Griscom's Condition.

Chicago, June 23.—Griscom, the Chicago faster, weighed 183 pounds today; loss since yesterday, one pound; since beginning, 309. He walked seven miles this morning.

Pennsylvania Railroad.

Jersey City, June 23.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company contemplate laying four tracks upon the New York division between Philadelphia and here.
